The Uncertain Life

Bhavna Bajarh

Assistant Professor,
Department of Humanities and Social Sciences,
National Institute of Technology,
Hamirpur (HP),
India.

Lying on my bed I wonder,
Will there be another summer?
Will I see these birds again?
Or will I see this constant pain?
People crying, children dying,
Doctors and nurses keep on trying,
Just to keep us all alive,
Just to see for them that pride,
I wonder if this moment be back,
I see all future turned black,
No ambition, plans or dreams,
Just a need of few more beams,
I pray for those who keep me happy,
Then wonder about who had been snappy,
I love them all and like them all,
I want them all,
But alive,
I wish them all a long life!
I feel sorry for those fights,
I also miss those happy nights,
Friends and foes, all look alike,

I only need a ray of light,
Which can bring that laughter back on faces,
Which can make us forget the difference of races,
Which can make us stand and sit together,
Which can let us all gather,
Which can let us forget this social distancing,
Which can reduce this mental fencing,
I hope all gets well soon,
And CORONA leaves us by next moon!
