A Feminist Proposal

Pardeep Kaur

Ph. D. Research Scholar

Centre for Languages and Comparative Literature

Central University of Punjab, Bathinda.

Will you marry me?
If I tell you that I love freedom more than anything
If I assert myself to be a feminist
Who is always equating a woman with a human being Without sacrificing her life for the set norms
I know it is very hard to marry a human being
But it is very easy to marry a woman
With a beautiful face, under skin bruises of domestic violence
With a smile under the weight of all sacrifices
With a hope for others without one of her own
If you are searching for her then your answer for my question is NO
This is the reason why I am telling you beforehand
As there are entrance exams these days
To check the quality of subjects
If they can work well in that field
Then I would say you failed
You are not a person of good quality
I would simply reject this product due to its poor quality
I cannot compromise with quality for quantity
There are many others like you
Who cannot contribute to society in a better manner
So I ask my quality manager to keep check
If some human being comes only then would call it
Eligible for an entrance exam to my life
Well all the best to all who want to get a good package
To earn a life worth living
In this world of our own.
