

About Us: <http://www.the-criterion.com/about/>

Archive: <http://www.the-criterion.com/archive/>

Contact Us: <http://www.the-criterion.com/contact/>

Editorial Board: <http://www.the-criterion.com/editorial-board/>

Submission: <http://www.the-criterion.com/submission/>

FAQ: <http://www.the-criterion.com/fa/>

ISSN 2278-9529

Galaxy: International Multidisciplinary Research Journal
www.galaxyimrj.com

Forever

Neelam Dadhwal

This flight of birds
will go away
over blue moon
the heart sway will go away
intent of bumble bees over flowers
will go away
season of garden
blue of sky
scent of earth
I want to keep deep in my heart.

Flush deepens over roses and carnations garden with its own mist overlaps its scent from time to time I wonder about hills where sun rises and moon arrives to sky clouds fly and gather over in shapes in wide horizon creating a roar.

This picture I wonder who paints
who weaves along the language of happiness and love
I want to flow with these heights as my base with this immense trust and joy.

Bio:

Ms. Neelam Dadhwal is a poet from Chandigarh, India. Her poems has been published in Readomania, Kritya, Destiny Poets, Different Truths, Muse India, Indian Poetry Review, Literary Yard, and anthologies on women international, peace and humanity. Her latest book "Echoes" is published by Write India.