

IMPACT FACTOR: 7.86

ISSN0976-8165

THE CRITERION

AN INTERNATIONAL JOURNAL IN ENGLISH

14 Years of Open Access

Vol. 14 Issue-II April 2023

Bi-monthly Peer-Reviewed e-Journal

DR. VISHWANATH BITE

Editor-In-Chief

DR. MADHURI BITE

Managing Editor

www.the-criterion.com

AboutUs: <http://www.the-criterion.com/about/>

Archive: <http://www.the-criterion.com/archive/>

ContactUs: <http://www.the-criterion.com/contact/>

EditorialBoard: <http://www.the-criterion.com/editorial-board/>

Submission: <http://www.the-criterion.com/submission/>

FAQ: <http://www.the-criterion.com/fa/>

ISSN 2278-9529

Galaxy: International Multidisciplinary Research Journal
www.galaxyimrj.com

Small-Towners

Frank Zahn

They see themselves as decent, God-fearing, upright, and law-abiding people who enjoy the simple life in small towns across the USA—towns small enough so that everyone knows everything about everyone else.

Many like to brag that they graduated from the college of hard knocks, and have common sense all too often lacking in the educated idiots with college degrees and delusions of superior intelligence and demeanor.

Most tout Republican values of responsibility, hard work, and self-reliance, but they do not shy away from government welfare checks, food stamps and other entitlements introduced and defended by Democrats.

Many express contempt for homosexuals, Jews they often refer to as kikes or Christ-killers, Muslims, black people they refer to as niggers, communists, and foreigners of all sizes, shapes, and colors.

They take pride in their offsprings who graduate from high school, and some take additional pride in the ones who continue their education, preferably at colleges where Christian-centered education still thrives.

All the while, they pray that their offsprings will marry and settle down in their respective small towns, attend church every Sunday, and breed the next generation of small-townners who will keep their lifestyle alive.