

AboutUs: <http://www.the-criterion.com/about/>

Archive: <http://www.the-criterion.com/archive/>

ContactUs: <http://www.the-criterion.com/contact/>

EditorialBoard: <http://www.the-criterion.com/editorial-board/>

Submission: <http://www.the-criterion.com/submission/>

FAQ: <http://www.the-criterion.com/fa/>

ISSN 2278-9529

Galaxy: International Multidisciplinary Research Journal
www.galaxyimrj.com

The Path to Eternal Bliss

Afreen Abbasi

I wandered through the silent forest
In search of freedom and joy
I found it giving the little birds in flock
A pot of water and scattered grain.

The birds came down twittering delight
Pecked at the grain and sipped water
Their heart was filled with satisfaction
And I found the content of happiness.

I found a beggar asking voluntary alms
I dropped a coin in his little wallet
His blind eyes sparkled with great joy
I observed my happiness readily there.

The street dog strayed and wounded
Incapable of procuring food in search
Much delighted when I offered a bit
My happiness rose high with him.

When I freed a group of caged birds
They rightly flew away to the sky
They were as free as the wind blows
And makes my heart leap with joy.

I helped the old man with sticks
When tumbled over to cross the road
He blessed me for this trifle act
And I felt the happiness in my heart.

The way is always open to all
To do good to others in woe
Happiness will surround your mind
You need not be worry searching it.

About the Poet:

Afreen Abbasi, an emerging poet poised at the threshold of her writing journey. Her verses delve into themes of God, Life, Nature, and contemporary issues. With a portfolio encompassing poems, and short stories, Afreen has left her literary mark in various journals.